

Hello Greg,

The last 14 months have delivered some very challenging circumstances for all in our industry. We are seeing rampant inflation throughout all segments of our economy. Pasta manufacturing is feeling this pinch too, especially in areas of freight, logistics, labor, and packaging. Grain prices are starting to move now too. This inflation is forcing us to pass a small price increase to our valued customers for the first time in five years. I am attaching your new price list effective 07-01-21. All orders picked up or delivered by 06-30-21, will receive the existing price. All orders received on 07-01-21, will receive the new price. We hope this is just an inflationary bubble that will not continue, but expect that all suppliers of pasta and other ingredients are being forced into a similar situation right now.

We have been a longstanding trusted supplier partner to Viele & Sons and we will always be straightforward and transparent with you.

Regards,

Stephen D. Zoccoli
